

Coal to Coast Festival Games

1. Grab one big beach ball; this will be picked up by the hips and run to the end of the course and back. One of the pair will be wearing swimming goggles. The last person needs to put it up their shirt and run to the end of the course and back again wearing goggles.
2. Dribble a weird shaped ball to the end of the course using the small cricket bat. The equipment will be passed onto the next person in your team and done until everyone has completed the race.
3. Each team member is designated to stay at a marker, where the distance between each marker is 2 metres. Starting with team member one, he/she must fill up a small container with water (available in the wheelbarrows) and run to his/her marker and throw the water to person two who must catch the water with his/her own container. Person two must then throw the water to person three and so on until the water is collected from person 5. Person five must then use any water collected and fill a team container (a clear long cylindrical tube). Once the team's water reaches the top of the tube there will be a winner.
4. An egg and spoon race.....with a twist as team members will take turns sitting on a bogey board with other team members holding them from one end to the other holding the egg on a spoon with goggles on.
5. A wheelbarrow race is to be filled up with sand located at the start using a shovel. Then raced to the end of the course and back again changing team members every end. The wheelbarrow will progressively become harder to manoeuvre.
6. Protective Equipment Race: Team members one by one will be putting the gear on and running to the marker taking the gear off and a new member will put the gear on and run back – all team members will be involved.
